Working hard for Orana – thank you to our Ambassadors

As Orana's team of Ambassadors continues to grow, we'd like to thank this important group of influential personalities who are voluntarily working hard in raising awareness and lending their name to our organisation. Our work is greatly enhanced by their commitment, passion and assistance and we are extremely grateful for the support they give us. Meet our Orana Ambassadors...

President's Perspective

Over the past couple of months we have seen a flurry of activity in many areas of Orana as we engage more people with the organisation and look forward to an exciting and prosperous New Year.

Ambassadors

I am delighted to welcome on board performer/broadcaster/producer, Mark Holden, singer/songwriter Diesel and The Kitchen Gardener, Michael Weldon as Ambassadors for Orana. Orana is extremely fortunate to have several high profile ambassadors willing to take time out of their demanding schedules and lend their name, time and talents to Orana. Oh behalf of Orana, I'd like to thank them for the tremendous job they do in supporting us.

Annual General Meeting and Awards

The Orana AGM saw the announcement of our Employee of the Year, Roger Jarmyn and Resident of the Year, Ian North. Congratulations to both and our thanks go to Ken Lodge, CEO of Workskil who sponsored and presented these awards. Other awards presented at the AGM included the presentation of Meritorious Service Award to three long standing supporters of Orana and Years of Service Award to Board Member, Kate Strohm. Kate has been a member of the Orana Board for more than 10 years.

At the AGM, it was heartening to hear that despite a decline in manufacturing due to Asian imports, Orana's viability is continuing to strengthen and its accommodation services are expanding. Furthermore, Human Services (incorporating Client Services, Human Resources, Payroll, Quality, IT and the Client Development Centre), has introduced several new training programs benefitting staff and clients alike as well as facilitated the migration of Orana's information services to the 'clouds' with improved technical information sharing and outreach capability.

A special thank you goes to Orana Netley Auxiliary which hosted the lunch and AGM.

Board Changes

We are sorry to lose two Board Members, Hilary Winchester and Vanessa Bouly. Both have been very committed to Orana and provided valuable input to the organisation and we thank them for the time and energy they have given to Orana. Kate Strohm has stepped down as Orana's Vice President and Richard Goddard has 'stepped up' to the Vice President Role.

I will continue as President and Chairman of the Board and Steven Toth retains his position of Orana's Treasurer and Chair of the Finance and Audit Subcommittee.

I would like to thank the entire Board for their input in the past year and look forward to working with you over the coming months.

Board of Directors Regional Visit to Port Augusta

The Board of Directors is committed to further engage our country staff, employees and supporters and demonstrating this commitment, at the end of September the Board visited Port Augusta.

The purpose was to visit the Port Augusta employment centre where local manager Dennis Cartwright displayed the operation of the pet shop and the excellent support the work crews provide to the local community. Board members were also able to engage local community leaders and gain valuable insights into the needs of the Port Augusta community.

In the afternoon the Board met with parents, carers and supporters at a community meeting where the guest speaker was Noelene Wadham, State Manager National Disability Services. She gave an excellent presentation on the National Disability Insurance Scheme and its potential to improve the lives of people with disability in regional areas.

On behalf of the Board I would like to thank Dennis and his dedicated team for hosting us and allowing us to handle the snakes!

The Board is planning to continue to focus on stakeholder engagement with more regional and metropolitan visits in 2012.

New Additions

Orana is continuing to grow and we welcome the following people to our expanding teams:

- Tania O'Farrell Business Development Manager
- Sarah Leitch Occupational Therapist
- Cassie Magin Grants Coordinator
- Dylan Lodge Supervisor – External Services
- David Seago Maintenance Technician/Toolmaker – Netley/Orana
- Janet Brandon Accommodation Support Worker (ASW) – Loxton/Berri
- Irene Klowsowski Accommodation Support Worker (ASW) – Loxton/Berri
- Steven Osbourne Accommodation Support Worker (ASW) – Loxton/Berri

Unfortunately we said goodbye to our Finance Manager, Shay Madzikanda who did a tremendous job in coordinating our 2011/12 budget. We wish him all the best in his future endeavours.

As 2011 draws to a close, on behalf of the Orana Board, I'd like to wish everyone a very merry Christmas and a peaceful New Year.

Orana Auxiliary Convention

Representatives from Berri, Ridleyton, Murray Bridge and Netley Auxiliaries attended the Auxiliary Convention in October. Apologies were sent from Mt Gambier and Port Pirie Auxiliaries, and also Orana's Patron, His Excellency Rear Admiral Kevin Scarce AC CSC RANR, Governor of South Australia, who was scheduled to open the Convention; he unexpectedly had to attend a State funeral.

After Orana President Bill Filmer officially opened the Convention, Matthew Sanderson, Principal Policy Officer from the Social Inclusion Unit presented the Blueprint for Disability Services, Strong Voices.

Matthew was followed by Noelene Wadham, State Manager, National Disability Service who spoke about the National Disability Insurance Scheme.

The Convention was held as part of a Board initiative to improve Orana's engagement with stakeholders and to address how to strengthen the relationship between Orana and Auxiliaries, who have played a vital role in the organisation for several decades.

Following lunch, a workshop, facilitated by Graeme Alder, was held with the aim of improving the mutual value of the Orana – Auxiliaries relationship. The Auxiliaries present agreed the best option was to change the name to Friends of Orana, followed by the district name where appropriate (eg Friends of Orana, Berri). They also decided each Friends group should choose its own focus from a list of suggested areas as prepared and reviewed by Orana periodically. Ruth Bourne, Secretary of the Orana Auxiliary Netley is currently seeking endorsement of the proposal.

Orana thanks all Auxiliary members for the hard work, time and effort they have put in over the years and look forward to a future with rejuvenated purpose for this valued stakeholder group.

Orana Client Development Centre supports mind and body

Since its opening in August, our innovative Client Development Centre (CDC) is blazing the way in this field and our vocational counsellor, Ninje Adiya has already begun working with Netley employees, screening literacy and numeracy skills and cognitive functioning. She has also helped with short term counselling for employees with mental health issues and behavioural problems.

"It is very rewarding to be working with people and helping them in not only making choices to find suitable employment but also assist in finding their strengths," says Ninje, who is a trained psychologist. "The aim is to help them enjoy their employment and improve self confidence, motivation and achievement and ultimately improve their quality of life."

Ninje says it is important clients feel supported in their work place and living environment. "As a CDC team we – the allied health professionals and case managers – will help employees and residents improve their personal and professional skills," she adds.

In October we appointed Occupational Therapist

Sarah Leitch. Sarah has a range of different experiences and skills having worked closely with people with disabilities in a variety of different settings. She is in the process of putting together equipment, policies and procedures to complete screening assessments. These will empower and support Orana's current and new employees in accessing employment and accommodation opportunities.

By looking at the tasks relating to work, Sarah will assist Orana employees in their work opportunities, by matching people's abilities and strengths with job demands and tasks, as well as identifying training areas to support people in their continued growth and development. Part of this role will encompass supporting our current employees in their transition to retirement. Sarah will also work with Orana's residents, in the activities of daily living, including personal care and meal preparation to assist our residents to be as independent as possible.

"I am really looking forward to working with clients and helping them grow as individuals, and develop in their work and daily living roles," she says.

"Orana is entering into exciting times with this centre and we're very much looking forward to employing an intake officer shortly to complete the team," concludes Orana CEO, Nicholas Mihalaras.

Whyalla Vacation Care Program

Bienvenidos House

Alleviating the stress on parents, carers and support workers in the holidays, Bienvenidos House has commenced a Vacation Care Program. Operating during the school holidays for three days a week, the care program is proving increasingly popular as participants enjoy a range of activities varying from movies and tenpin bowling to learning about road safety and bicycle riding.

"There was a real need for this type of service in this region, so we approached Disability Services SA to assist in funding the program," said Monica Fernandez, Bienvenidos House Manager.

Disability Services SA has contributed nearly $20,000 for this program which goes towards meals, activities and transport.

"The program went really well in the last school holidays," confirms Monica. "We've had some great BBQ's in the park, visited several museums and even taken a cruise in Port Augusta."

The Vacation Care Program is made up of junior, senior and mixed groups, with between six to eight people participating in each group.

"This program has an array of benefits for participants as we also focus on improving social skills and tolerance between themselves," says Monica. "Plus there is a lot of interaction in the general community which as well as being of benefit to participants, is helping strengthen our ties in the community and increase our local network."

Orana Melaleuca's new contract benefits the Lower Lakes

Following last year's success, Orana Melaleuca has recently been awarded a new contract for propagating over 120,000 plants for the next phase of the Lower Lakes Remediation project.

"This is a great win for Orana Melaleuca and it recognises the Meningie community continues to support this important initiative," confirmed Tony de Vries, Orana General Manager Employment Services and Business. "The ten employees and their supervisor have already been very busy preparing the equipment and facilities for the hard work ahead."

Seed collections and germinations have started and soon cuttings will be collected to start the propagation process.

Employees are close to completing their Certificate III in Conservation Land Management which has been done whilst learning the new skills alongside valued volunteers and mentors such as Robert Mroneovius and his wife.

"This significant project has changed the face of the Orana Melaleuca facility and it ensures the additional employees now working with us have varied and challenging opportunities," concluded Mr de Vries.

South Australia Chinese Weekly supports Orana

Helping Orana reach out to the Chinese community, the South Australia Chinese Weekly newspaper is running a series of adverts and features to promote Orana and its activities.

The highly acclaimed twice weekly newspaper, which has been operating for over 14 years has a readership of nearly 30,000 and is the first Chinese newspaper in SA. In 2010, it was a finalist in the Governor of SA's Multicultural Award in the categories of Media for an Organisation and Media for an Individual, Chief Editor and Director Geoff Phan.

"It's common in Chinese communities to hide people with disabilities away as sadly, Chinese families are very often ashamed of this family member," explains Jo Phan, Reporter/ Marketing Assistant to Chief Editor at the South Australia Chinese Weekly. Before working at the SA Chinese Weekly, Jo was a valued member of Orana in the Marketing and Fundraising team last year while completing her university studies.

"By running these adverts and features, we hope to change this attitude to disability. We are actively encouraging Chinese families and carers to contact Orana so their loved ones with a disability can not only have a better quality of life, but they can feel more fulfilled and be an active member of the community."

"We are delighted Jo is still involved in Orana and are extremely grateful for the support the South Australia Chinese Weekly is giving us," says Nicholas Mihalaras, CEO, Orana. "Its support is invaluable in helping us promote our services and reach out to more South Australians living with a disability," concludes Mr Mihalaras.

Orana's first gardening school event

The weather was perfect for the first Orana Gardening School, held on Saturday 5 November at the Bridgewater Inn in the beautiful Adelaide Hills.

Kim Syrus from the Channel 9's Gardening Gurus was the MC and Lead Presenter, and he was supported by guest speakers herb specialist June Taylor, President of the Rare Fruits Society, Dr David Harrison (Harry) and Darren Adey from Brunnings. Each of the presentations was fun, informative and provided all sorts of handy hints.

Participant Faye Nogaj said she wasn't really a gardener, but had really enjoyed the morning. "I found it really interesting and I learnt so much, including a slightly unusual method of deciding where to plant a sub-tropical fruit tree," she said. "There was something for everyone; the presenters even gave tips for those who live in apartments and think they haven't the space or 'green fingers'. It was a great morning and I'd definitely do another Orana Gardening School."

Orana would like to thank the presenters for their time and generosity in supporting the Orana Gardening School.

A big thank you also goes to our sponsors for the day, Brunnings, The Bridgewater Inn and Seasol. Their support was greatly appreciated by everybody. Brunnings supplied all raffle prizes as well as lots of giveaways for all the participants. Seasol also showered giveaways on participants, while The Bridgewater Inn provided a wonderful morning tea with all sorts of delightful munchies.

The event was very successful and wonderful feedback from the participants has been received.

NF McDonnell and Sons Enclave a cut above the rest

As highlighted in the last edition of Oranability, Mt Gambier Employment Services has taken a very significant step forward in offering new opportunities for employees by working in another business. The NF McDonnell and Sons Enclave, (the term we use for the initiative of placing small groups of Orana employees to fulfil specific tasks within other industries), is a resounding success as employees learn new skills and work with other members of the community.

Our new roster system enables as many of our employees as possible to experience working at McDonnell and Sons.

"The Orana employees are very much a part of the McDonnell's team and we have trained up the Orana employees to use a CML multi rip saw and band saw," says Ian McDonnell, NF McDonnell and Sons saw mill owner. "Our staff are very conscious of the special needs of Orana's employees and much work has gone into ensuring that they are not only safe but also have enjoyable work conditions."

Up to nine employees, one leading hand and one supervisor now work at the NF McDonnell and Sons timber mill, cutting and stacking timber.

"Having Orana employees work on a regular basis for us is a great asset as it saves us having to hire casual contract labour," continues Mr McDonnell. "It gives us a predictable and cost effective solution for this important part of our business," he added.

This enclave is one of several that Orana now has in place throughout its nine employment services in South Australia and others are planned.

"Other Enclaves do things such as assembly, sorting and packaging and gives our employees variety and further training," adds Tony de Vries, Orana General Manager Employment Services and Business.

Famous faces at Orana

• Francis Wong Board member with Jon Stevens

Jon and John rock Netley

The Netley warehouse was well and truly rocked on Friday 21st October when Jon Stevens and John Swan together with John Salerno and Adam Ventoura, members of Jon's band, dropped in to put on an amazing concert for our employees. Jon was in Adelaide to perform his concert for Orana in Mannum the following night at the Pretoria Hotel, but he gave Orana employees a sneak preview.

The four musicians enthusiastically played a medley of songs, bringing massive smiles to everyone's faces.

Employees responded excitedly when Jon called them to 'reach out' and he had the audience singing, swaying, clapping and generally having the time of their lives.

John Swan also thrilled everyone when he sang the song 'Have a Little Faith' which he dedicated to Orana last year; needless to say the employees joined him in singing it. Jon and John's duet of the song "Stand by Me" was simply sensational and employees also enjoyed Jon's performance of his current single "Just a Man".

The concert was a massive success and truly appreciated by employees and staff alike. Orana thanks Jon, John, John & Adam for their time and a fantastic concert.

Thank you to all our volunteers

As 2011 comes to an end, Orana would like to say a big thank you to all our volunteers. Your enthusiasm, talents and skills, and the time you give so willingly is an essential part of Orana and the work you do for us is truly appreciated.

Shannon Noll sound check

During October a group of employees from Wingfield and Netley were lucky enough to see Shannon Noll perform his sound check at the Governor Hindmarsh Hotel. Employees had a great time singing along to the songs and were very excited when Shannon came over for photos and a 'meet and greet'. Shannon was very friendly and welcoming and employees loved meeting him. A great time was had by all involved and as you can see by the photo there are a lot of happy smiling faces.

• Michael Weldon chats with Orana employee Anthony Kretschmer

Michael Weldon cooks up a treat as an Ambassador

Employees were delighted when this year's MasterChef runner up, Michael Weldon, made a visit to Orana on Wednesday 28 September. As he made a tour of Orana, Michael thrilled employees when he stopped many times to chat and sign high viz jackets.

Having watched him on TV recently, employees loved meeting the chef in person and several asked him for some cooking tips.

Michael will be involved in many of the events being run by the Orana Cooking School. As well as hosting some of Orana's Cooking School classes for the general public, Michael will also run classes for Orana employees. This will be a fantastic experience for our people who are eager to learn. Orana would also like to thank Michael for coming on board as an Ambassador. Michael is giving a tremendous amount of time and sharing his knowledge, and we are very much looking forward to learning from him and tasting his creations over the coming months.

• Diesel gets the thumbs up from Orana employee Patrick Herrity

New Ambassador Diesel performs for Orana employees

On Friday 16 September Orana was privileged when a very special singer, Diesel kindly dropped in to Orana Netley.

Employees were delighted with the concert he put on for them, and were thrilled when he signed their high viz jackets and posed for photographs.

Diesel has been in the music industry for over 25 years and in that time has sold in excess of 800,000 records and has become a household name. He has released a string of gold and platinum albums and earned a swag of ARIA Awards (including Best Male). Diesel has ten Top 10 albums and more than a dozen Top 20 singles.

Furthermore, Orana is extremely honoured and delighted to announce Diesel has come on board as an Ambassador. We really appreciate the time and energy Diesel has given to us and look forward to seeing him again next time he is in Adelaide.

Orana Green connects with Telstra

Orana employees are helping more South Australians connect with its Telstra maintenance contract which now covers much of South Australia. Areas covered include: Mt Gambier, Meningie, Loxton, Port Pirie, Port Augusta, most of the Adelaide metropolitan area, and the York and Fleurieu Peninsulas.

The contract, which now has one full time work crew in Adelaide as well as employees in most of the country regions working on it, entails maintenance of grounds and facilities, ensuring they are kept clean, tidy, safe and aesthetically pleasing. As a result, Orana has made a significant investment in more equipment such as twin cab vehicles, ride-on lawn mowers and gardening and cleaning equipment.

"It's very exciting for our employees to be working outside within the local community and this contract brings a whole wealth of opportunities to those who hadn't previously been able to do external work," says Tony de Vries, Orana General Manager Employment Services and Business. "Furthermore, Telstra is so pleased with our work that the contract is now extending to include more duties and also internal cleaning of exchanges."

"I really enjoy doing this work and I am learning lots of new skills" says Shaun Brunt – one of the employees on the metropolitan Orana Green team that services the Telstra contract.

Thanks to all Cooking School sponsors

The Orana Cooking School would like to say a huge thank you to all the sponsors who have very kindly agreed to come on board and support us. Without the support of our wonderful sponsors we would not be able to run such a successful venture.

SPONSORS IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER:

'Panda'ring round the Zoo

Orana Accommodation Port Pirie in partnership with Bedford Day Options had a great day recently at the Adelaide zoo to see the new additions Wang Wang and Funi.

The group was greeted by an impressive African drummer at the entry gates then headed to the panda enclosure to watch their antics. While Wang Wang proved camera shy, Funi was like a model on the catwalk, showing us her moves and poses and generally entertaining the crowd. After lunch in the rotunda, the group split up to explore the zoo further and visit their favourite animals.

It was a long, but great and rewarding day and it finished with a trip to Hungry Jacks before the drive home. Our thanks go to Bedford for helping make the day so successful.

Port Pirie Residents bring home Gold

Port Pirie residents Samuel Elsby and Robert Evans won gold medals at the 2011 Special Olympics WA Invitational State Games held in Perth, in October. Sam and Robert were part of the 17-strong team from SA at the event, where they participated in tenpin bowling.

As well as tenpin bowling, Orana athletes participated in equestrian and basketball, supported by 24 team support and volunteers.

Sam won gold in doubles and silver in his team competition and Robert won a gold medal in his team competition and bronze for doubles. Robert was delighted when he had a surprise visit from some of his family who live in Perth. And although he won gold and bronze medals he said "My favourite time was seeing family and them watching me bowl."

Meat and Beer Matching Class

On Tuesday 18 October, we held the Orana Cooking School's inaugural event in the Adelaide Central Markets kitchen. Our first class was intimate, informative and interactive with participants learning everything from butchering meat to pairing food with Coopers beer.

Participants were greeted with samplings of Wirra Wirra Wines, Coopers Beer and Bickfords whilst learning about different cuts of meat from the first of our celebrity chefs, Richard Gunner, the owner of Feast! Fine Foods. He demonstrated two recipes using Sparkling Ale and Dark Ale from Coopers, firstly a Hearty Winter Beef & Stout Stew and then Coopers Ale Marinated Onglet (or flank); both of them were sensational.

"I didn't know flank could taste so good," said Tania O'Farrell, Orana Business Development Manager and cooking school participant.

"Simply marinated, pan fried and served with an Argentinean salad – even my husband could do that!" Tania was most impressed with Richard's hearty stew which he threw together using the most basic ingredients.

"I walked away gaining knowledge on how to butcher meat and how the most simplest of dishes that take minimal time to produce can be a stand out on the dinner table. And for the record my husband has now asked me to book him in to the next Orana Cooking School," she added.

This highly successful class was heavily supported by a number of sponsors and Orana would like to thank Richard Gunner for running this educational and fun class and the sponsors who provided the ingredients for Richard to cook with: AAY's Herbs, Feast! Fine Foods, Fruitalicious, Gaganis Bros and Talinga Grove.

Thank you also to our beverage sponsors, Bickfords, Coopers and Wirra Wirra, and to John Kruger who is Orana's official Photographer and also doubled as the beer knowledge presenter. John is a beer judge and he writes for various beer publications. Finally, thanks to the South Australia Chinese Weekly newspaper for promoting this event.

All sponsors' help is much appreciated and contributes to the success of these events.

Orana's packing is top of the class!

Orana Netley is set to have a busy few weeks as it completes the Office Max contract packing the individual 'back to school' stationary kits for school children.

"It's a big order as we're packing the kits for much of South Australia and the Northern Territory," says Tony de Vries, Orana General Manager Employment Services and Business. "And they've all got to be done in time for the kids to get them when they go back to school in January!"

As a result, Orana Netley will continue to operate throughout the Christmas period, closing only for public holidays. Supervisor Vicki Woods proudly says "This work is more complex than some of the other jobs we do and my team are really enjoying working with this challenge – and doing a very good job."
